Castle Loch Lochmaben Community Trust nature reserve Free Membership

A little bit of background

The continued support of the people of Lochmaben, Royal Four Towns, Templand and their visitors, is essential to the conservation of this special place. One simple way of helping is to sign up as a member, it is free, and the memberships help us show future donors and funders the level of support for the project. Members are eligible to attend the AGM each March and residents of Lochmaben, Royal Four Towns and Templand have voting rights.

The Castle Loch Local Nature Reserve is owned by the community following its purchase in January 2014 and now has 3 miles of footpath circling the loch and a variety of habitats. The site is some 290 acres and rich in wildlife, including willow tit and otter, along with lots of winter and summer migrants. It's a great place for people to experience the nature on their doorstep.
